

Grain Handling Safety Coalition Train the Trainer Sessions April 21, 2016

Grain Handling Safety Coalition

Do you have a passion for safety? Are you a safety director or do you train others at a commercial facility, farm, or in the community?

Train the Trainer covers a variety of topics associated with grain handling safety. Sessions include several new hands-on activities, a variety of presentation formats and effective delivery techniques, and tips on the value of evaluations for training feedback. Train the Trainer is designed to prepare participants to conduct training sessions on these topics in their local communities, workplaces, or for their organizations.

Several training modules will be presented in this session including:

- Overview of Grain Handling & Storage Safety
- Lock-Out/Tag-Out Features a training video
- Entanglement Hazards and Guarding – How to identify and prevent entanglement hazards including sweep auger protections
- Fall Hazards and Protection – How to identify and correct fall hazards including assessing the need for personal fall protection systems
- Hazards of Bin Entry – How to identify and correct hazards before entry
- Bin Entry Process – How to plan, train, and prepare before bin entry; correct use of a Bin Entry Permit or checklist. Features a training video
- Introduction to Lifeline Systems
- Confined Space – How to appropriately identify and manage confined spaces in agricultural environments
- Enhancing presentation skills in an adult learning environment
- The value of evaluation mechanisms and how to gain participation

Participants will receive a complete set of valuable instructor materials (PowerPoint slides w/instructor notes, videos, handouts, etc.) worth hundreds of dollars.
